

The background features a monochromatic blue-toned illustration of various food items. In the upper left, there are several stalks of wheat or grain. To the right, a round loaf of bread is shown with a small tear on its side. Below the bread, there are several slices of bread stacked together. In the lower left, there is a bunch of fresh herbs, possibly basil. In the lower right, there are more slices of bread stacked on top of each other. The overall style is that of a detailed line drawing or engraving.
